March – May 2015

1965 Birthday Message by Meher Baba

Be true to the Trust I repose in you and remember Me wholeheartedly. All talk about the Path and the Goal is a lantern carried by a blind man. A blind man needs a staff in his hand; the wicker needs his hand in God-Mand. No sooner you begin to love those whom you cannot love, you begin to love Me as I should be loved. To love those whom you could not love, is needed, but to love those whom you cannot love, is to love Me as I should be loved.
